HOW TO USE THIS JOURNAL

I'm so excited that you've chosen My Exploring the 50 States Journal to use in your homeschool! This journal was designed to be accompanied by The 50 States book by Gabrielle Balkan (this book can be found in my Amazon Storefront). You will find the state facts to fill in this journal inside of this book. On the last page for each state is a fun Rabbit Trails page to learn even more about the state with more ideas to research, a picture book suggestion, and a short video to watch online. These are all just suggestions. Feel free to take your own Rabbit Trail to learn more about each state!

There is a lot of history inside of each and every state that starts with our nation's Native Americans. There are a few book suggestions about Indigenous People throughout the journal, but this would be a great addition to add to this journal to take your state studies even deeper. What tribes lived in the state before European settlers came? What was unique about how they lived? The amount of picture books out there on Native Americans are numerous. Enjoy this addition to get an even greater grasp of our country's history!

This journal is meant to be used on your child's level. If they aren't big writers yet, encourage them to draw pictures where appropriate. Filling in the capital, statehood date, etc. are great opportunities to utilize copy work.
